

NWSA leads the field of women's studies in educational and social transformation. Membership in NWSA runs from January 1 to December 31, 2010. By renewing The College of Wooster's membership, your institution has joined a network of more than 350 programs, departments, and centers committed to an intersectional feminist vision of social change.

As an institutional NWSA member, The College of Wooster can now:

- Use NWSA data to strengthen your program or center. NWSA helps you make the case for funding by collecting data on the field. The Association gathers and reports annual data about job listings in women's studies and women's centers at <http://www.nwsa.org/research/field.php>
- NWSA also gathers key data on the field of women's studies that culminated in a collaboration with Ms. Magazine in spring 2008. The searchable database is available at <http://nwsa.org/research/theguide/>
- Imagine a feminist democracy. With generous support from The Teagle Foundation, NWSA is pleased to offer a faculty development workshop at its 2010 conference, Civic Engagement in the Women's and Gender Studies Classroom: Power and Privilege at the Intersections of Race, Class, and Nation. To learn more about the workshop visit <http://www.nwsa.org/projexts/teagle.php>
- Build a national network. NWSA develops a vibrant national conference program <http://www.nwsa.org/conference/index.php> with special sessions for program and center administrators and via its Women of Color Leadership Project.
- Post jobs and interview candidates. NWSA's employment pages are among the most frequently-visited on our website, and utilize the Association's employment service at the annual conference to connect hiring institutions and job candidates.
- Exchange ideas with colleagues. Collaborate and share ideas on our program and center administrator list-serves.

- Click here (for centers): <http://www.nwsa.org/centers/maillist.php>
- Introduce your students to NWSA. Institutional membership offers three complimentary student memberships annually that may be used any time during the calendar year. Students must complete and return individual member forms available at <http://www.nwsa.org/membership/>

I look forward to seeing you at our annual conference, Difficult Dialogues II, in November 2010. The call for proposals is available now at <http://www.nwsa.org/org/conference/> and the deadline to submit proposals is March 1, 2010. Please share the CFP with your colleagues and students.

Best wishes in all your feminist endeavors, and thank you again for supporting NWSA.
