Theatre and Dance, as studied at The College of Wooster, emphasizes the relationship between scholarship and artistry, investigating both the range and depth of the human experience. The Theatre and Dance Major and Minor curricula offer a broad range of knowledge designed to examine acting, directing, dance, design and technology, history, literature, playwriting, and theory, focusing in each area on the importance of analyzing texts in their various modes: the written text, the visual text, and the physical text. While the Theatre and Dance student may choose to specialize in one of these particular areas of the discipline for their Senior Independent Study, the departmental philosophy remains dedicated to the liberal arts belief in developing, through its interdisciplinary curricular structure, a combination of historical and critical analysis in relationship to the study of various performance texts, resulting in the creation of the artist/scholar.

The Theatre and Dance major consists of a minimum of 12 course credits: three 100-level foundational courses focusing on the understanding of text from a variety of perspectives, three 200-level history/literature/theory/criticism courses, three 300-level Topics courses. Junior Independent Study and Senior Independent Study allow students to establish an area of emphasis in Theatre and Dance, including directing, design, technology, acting, choreography, playwriting, history and theory

Major in Theatre and Dance

Consists of twelve courses:

- THTD 10100
- THTD 10200

The fourth 12100 may be taken in any section for a total of one credit.
- Only grades of C- or better are accepted for the major or minor.

THEATRE AND DANCE COURSES

FOUNDATION COURSES

THTD 10100. THE WRITTEN TEXT

The Theatre and Dance program at Wooster emphasizes the importance of analyzing texts in their various modes: the written text, the visual text and the physical text of the performer's body. These modes interact simultaneously with each other in the process of performance. This course specifically poses fundamental questions about the nature of written texts, and how they become transformed in the performance process. This understanding of texts is fundamental to both the enlightened theatre and dance audience member and to the work we do as actors, dancers, directors, choreographers, dramaturges, designers, technical personnel, and support staff. Annually. Fall 2012 and Spring 2013. [W, AH]

THTD 10200. THE VISUAL TEXT

The visual text, which includes the images created by the body, scenery, lighting, costumes, properties, film, and digital imagery, forms the ways in which the written text is performed. Students will focus on the following: how visual elements narrate the story; the basic tools and principles of design and the visual arts which communicate space, meaning, mood and emotion; and how visual communication in a performance context is culturally based and informed by historical and stylistic insight. The student is expected to develop a visual literacy and to apply this knowledge to both the understanding of how these elements create meaning and the development of creative visual representations of a text. Annually. Fall 2012 and Spring 2013. [AH]

THTD 10300. THE PHYSICAL TEXT

An introductory level course intended to engage students in the study of movement as a primary text necessary for developing the art and craft of performance. Students will be introduced to the diversity of physical tools that shape movement of the performative body and how to analyze physical text with critical literary and cultural theory of Western and non-western performance systems. Annually. Fall 2012. [AH]

THTD 12101. PERFORMANCE PRACTICUM

Performing in a faculty-directed theatre or dance production. Rehearsal and performance time must total a minimum of 40 hours. Only those students who are cast in faculty-directed productions should register for the Performance Practicum. Students cast in non-faculty directed productions may receive credit pending faculty approval through a student petition. (.25 course credit) Annually. Fall and Spring.

THTD 12102. PRODUCTION/MANAGEMENT PRACTICUM

Practical experience in the production of a faculty directed play, or dance concert, including scene, costume or props design or construction; lighting design or execution; or serving on a stage or wardrobe crew. Non-faculty directed productions may receive credit pending faculty approval through a student petition. A minimum of 40 hours during the semester is required. Permission and arrangements are made through the instructor and the Department's Technical Director. (.25 course credit) Annually. Fall and Spring.

THTD 12104. STAGE MANAGEMENT PRACTICUM

Practical experience in stage management of a faculty directed play, musical or dance concert, including serving as an assistant stage manager or assistant director. Non-faculty directed productions may receive credit pending faculty approval through a student petition. A minimum of 40 hours during the semester is required. Prerequisite: Permission and arrangements are made through the instructor and the Department's Technical Director. (.25 course credit). Annually. Fall and Spring.

HISTORY, LITERATURE, THEORY & CRITICISM

THTD 20100. CONTEMPORARY DANCE HISTORY

This course explores the development of contemporary dance as an art form. Rich in diversity, the modern dance is world-conscious, concerned with social, cultural, and personal issues. Beginning with an introduction to late-nineteenth-century theatrical dance, this class will examine twentieth-century concert dance choreographers and their work as evidence of identity and change through dance literature, critical essays, and film. Alternate years. Not offered 2012-2013. [C, AH]

THTD 20200. DANCE IN WORLD CULTURES

An introductory overview to selected dance traditions of the world. The course will examine such issues as the role of the physical text in dance, influences from other cultures, and culture-specific choices of the physical body. Students will gain understanding of how dance is embedded in the belief systems of the people who created it, how dance forms have changed and why, and develop skills in communicating about dance orally and in written form. Alternate years. Fall 2012. [C, AH]

THTD 24100. LATINA/O DRAMA AND PERFORMANCE (Latin American Studies)

This course is an introduction to the history of Latina/o theatre and performance in the United States. By dismantling borders and opening up the public space of performance, students will explore topics related to identity and representation within the various Latina/o communities in the U.S. Analyzing a variety of performance genres and styles, the course examines how creative forms challenge dominant ideology and culture. Topics of emphasis include: immigration and diaspora, family and heritage, gender and sexuality, assimilation and resistance, violence, politics, and class struggle. Students will engage in historical, social, political, and cultural analyses of the theatre being created by Latina/os and the ways that their works bridge the gap between Latin America and the United States. Offered every third year. Not offered 2012-2013. [C, AH]

THTD 24200. AFRICAN AMERICAN THEATRE HISTORY (Africana Studies)

An overview of the history and literature of African Americans in theatre from the pre-Civil War era to the emergence of contemporary theatre. Students will compare images of blacks as created by both black and white playwrights and the effect of those images on social attitudes, through the reading and analyses of various plays. In addition, the lives and contributions of noted African American artists will be researched. The course fulfills in part the writing requirement for graduation. The course requires five formal writing assignments as well as weekly informal writing. The assignments will include response papers, position papers, and research papers. Three of these assignments will be revised over the course of the semester. Peer review and discussion are also a featured segment of the course. Offered every third year. Not offered 2012-2013. [C, AH]

THTD 24300. EXPLORING INDIA AT HOME AND ABROAD THROUGH THE ARTS (South Asian Studies)

This interdisciplinary course provides students an opportunity to examine the rich history of the arts and culture of India both at home during the fall semester and abroad in a field study experience during winter break. Through readings, discussions and guest lectures, the fall semester course focuses on developing a foundational knowledge regarding the geography, religions, history, and cultural practices of India, as well as a more in depth awareness of the richness of the arts in their various forms. The study abroad provides students with a field experience where they will attend traditional January festivals in Chennai, engage in folk arts in the village of Dakshinachitra, interact with Indian artists and scholars in Kerala Kalamandalam University of Arts and Culture, and participate in a service-project. Note: For Theatre and Dance majors this course may serve as the one additional History/Literature/Theory/Criticism course. [C, AH]

THTD 24400. ORIGINS OF DRAMA

This course introduces students to the origins of eastern and western dramas, focusing primarily on Europe, the U.S., and India, emphasizing the relationships between history, dramatic literature, and theory. Alternate years. Not offered 2012-2013. [AH]

THTD 24500. FEMINISM AND THEATRE (Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies)

This course is designed to explore theories of feminism and gender issues in relation to dramatic literature from a wide range of time periods and perspectives. Emphasis will be placed on developing student appreciation of and critical responses to traditional and non-traditional forms of drama as they relate to women as bodies in performance; the relationship of the male gaze (in film and on stage) to both canonical and non-canonical works; and marginalized voices (e.g.; women of color). Offered every third year. Fall 2012. [C, AH]

THTD 24600. DRAMATIC THEORY AND CRITICISM

This course traces the various theoretical movements found in the development of world theatre from the introduction of Realism to Grotowski's ritual theatre, emphasizing the relationships between history, theory, criticism, and dramatic literature. Alternate years. Spring 2013. [AH]

THTD 24800. NATIVE AMERICAN PERFORMANCE (Film Studies)

The performance traditions within Native American cultures are extremely rich and diverse, embracing ritual, myth, spirituality, oral literature, art, music, dance, film, and, more recently, improvised and written scripts and digital performance. A survey of this tremendous diversity would be impossible; accordingly, the course intends to indicate and suggest the diversity of recent Native performance in two ways: first, by focusing specifically on the range of recent performance practices of specific Alaskan Native and Native American peoples, and second, by the study of recent texts and performances by Native theatre groups and performance artists. Every third year. Not offered 2012-2013. [C, AH]

THTD 24900. INDIGENOUS FILM (Film Studies)

The course explores how indigenous cultures throughout the world have combined ritual, myth, oral literature, art, music, and dance with contemporary film. It will focus primarily on the films that have recently emerged from indigenous cultures of North, Central, and South America, Northern Europe, Australia, New Zealand and Oceania and how they have created a culturally specific indigenous film genre, free from colonial domination. Alternate years. Not offered 2012-2013. [C, AH]

TOPICS

Intended to create a natural extension from 100-level foundation courses, THTD 30100-30104 Topics in the Written Text, THTD 30200-30210 Topics in the Visual Text, and THTD 30300-30309 Topics in the Physical Text educate students in a variety of areas pertaining to the many possible foci available in the performing arts: acting, dance, directing, design, writing, and/or history, as well as practical application to Film Studies when possible. Four 300-level Topics courses will be provided each year, two per semester, rotating emphasis upon the Written Text, the Visual Text, and the Physical Text as appropriate. Annually.

THTD 30100-30104. TOPICS IN THE WRITTEN TEXT (some sections cross-listed with Film Studies)

Prerequisite: THTD 10100 or permission of the instructor. [AH]

THTD 30200-30210. TOPICS IN THE VISUAL TEXT (some sections cross-listed with Film Studies)

Prerequisite: THTD 10200 or permission of the instructor. [AH]

THTD 30300-30309. TOPICS IN THE PHYSICAL TEXT (some sections cross-listed with Film Studies)

Prerequisite: THTD 10300 or permission of the instructor. [AH]

OFF-CAMPUS STUDY

THTD 39100, 39200. INDIVIDUAL SUMMER STUDY

This course is intended to provide the advanced theatre student an opportunity to develop professionally by accepting a Summer Internship or Apprenticeship with a recognized theatre or dance company. Students will submit a detailed course proposal to the departmental faculty at the beginning of the second semester prior to commencing summer study. The reputation and operational procedures of each theatre organization will be closely scrutinized by the faculty in order to assure a significant experience for the student. Special attention will be paid to the supervision and evaluation of the summer experience by a Theatre and Dance faculty member. Students must turn in a journal to the supervising faculty member at the conclusion of the course. (1 – 2 course credits) Prerequisite: permission of the department.

THTD 40700, 40800. PROFESSIONAL THEATRE INTERNSHIPS

Internships with established professional theatres are included under this classification. Interns are assigned responsibilities by the host theatre, which they are expected to fulfill, and the theatre will make available other opportunities for observation and participation. The student's choice of theatre and its intern program must be approved by the department. Students choosing to study off-campus for a full semester are strongly encouraged to do so in either the Spring of their sophomore year or the Fall of their junior year to avoid conflict with the Junior Independent Study offered in the Spring only. S/NC course.

GLCA NEW YORK ARTS PROGRAM

A semester of study and work in New York with professionals in various aspects of theatre and dance according to individual interest. Students live in a dormitory-type environment where they also attend a number of seminars. The major portion of time is spent on-the-job as an intern with a well-known artist or artists and companies. Prerequisite: recommendations by the department chairperson and adviser, and acceptance by the administrators of the program in New York. (4 credits)

INDEPENDENT STUDY

THTD 40100. JUNIOR INDEPENDENT STUDY

An application of methods of research (historical, theoretical, analytical) pertinent to the performing arts, with emphasis on developing a research agenda and writing process, including the formation of a critical question, sentence outline, and annotated bibliography. Requirements include a 25-30-page research paper. Prerequisites: THTD 101, 102, 103, the completion of a writing-intensive (W) course, at least one 300-level Topics course, and at least one of the three required history courses. Annually. Spring.

THTD 45100. SENIOR INDEPENDENT STUDY – SEMESTER ONE

The first semester of the Senior Independent Study project, in which each student produces a thesis and/or a project. The project can be in stage management, directing, acting, play writing, design, dance, or a devised production and must include a companion research paper that articulates and explores a critical question posed by the project. Prerequisite: THTD 40100.

THTD 45200. SENIOR INDEPENDENT STUDY – SEMESTER TWO

The second semester of the Senior Independent Study project, which culminates in the thesis and/or project. Prerequisite: THTD 45100.
